

Works Cited

“16th street bombing.” history.com, www.history.com/search?q=16th%20street%20bombing.

This article was one of the most opened article on the whole history.com website. The given author for this article says history.com staff so it is very credible due to the fact that this is the official history website and is used all across the world. Also, when I researched the publisher, which is, A+E networks I only read good things about them. This leads me to believe this is a very good and trusting source to extract information from. Although it is not from the past 5 years, it is describing an event from the past so that doesn't have a lot of relevancy. After I knew this was a trusted source, I dug in to the crazy amount of information the website possessed. Speaking of information, this website provided a very good amount and also provided details and dates to support the claims and information in the text. Overall, this source was very useful and reliable for writing papers and it was also easy to cite which makes it a great website for this project.

“Befriending the KKK.” Lantern,

www.lantern.com/article/2018/02/news-daryl-davis-kkk-lecture-at-gvsu. This article drew me to it mainly because of the strange title. When I read, “Befriending the KKK” I was really surprised but curious. I was even more surprised to find he is African American. The author if this article is the person doing the activities that this article is about. I wouldn't really consider this author an expert but he is definitely fit to write this article due to personal experience. His purpose is to convince KKK members that they should leave the group and hate and join him on this mission. This source is current so it is pretty relevant. I actually gathered a small amount of information from this article but it was very rich and helpful information. This info included quotes, interviews, and facts and dates. I found this article very helpful in specific parts of my research.

Compton's by Britannica. "Black,Hugo." Reference, 1 Aug. 2011. SIRS Discoverer, discoverer.prod.sirs.com/discoweb/disco/do/article?urn=urn%3Asirs%3AUS%3BARTICLE%3BART%3B0000326094#citation. The author of this article is not given but it is on SIRS discoverer which is a very trusted source so I knew I could extract info from it. The purpose of this article is purely to inform for it is a database that states straight facts, details, and dates. This article focused and was really helpful on my subtopic of leadership and power. This article goes into depth about a KKK member in the Supreme Court that ruled in the favor of the KKK. It provided a very relevant and useful source that I knew was reliable. I knew this because it provided accurate dates and data that backed up any claims or info that was said.

"Edgar Ray Killen." Boston Globe,

www.bostonglobe.com/metro/obituaries/2018/01/14/edgar-ray-killen-mississippi-burning-kkk-leader/uEeZXPvE8cFQf2m2g74U2M/story.html. Again, this article is from SIRS discoverer so I right away knew it was reliable. I could tell that the author's purpose was to inform but also there may have been some bias. This was because the article was on an ex-KKK leader who had murdered and died and prison. You could tell there was a little rejoice in the writing but I don't blame him. This provided real dates and reports from the death of Edgar Ray Killen. This article wasn't as informative as the other but still provided me with a good amount of information.

“Emmet Till.” History, www.history.com/this-day-in-history/the-death-of-emmett-till. Out of all the articles, this source gave me the best and most information. I don’t know if it being on history.com made a difference but this article on Emmett Till was very useful. It provided detailed accounts of the pre-murder, murder, and aftermath. This led to an overwhelming amount of information. I do trust these authors because I have heard good things about them and they have never let me down. This article was very relevant because it was describing a event of the past and it was the most useful out of all of my articles.

Encyclopedia Britannica. “The Birth of a Nation.” Britannica school, 31 May 2016.

Encyclopedia Britannica, BritannicaSchool, school.eb.com/levels/middle/article/The-Birth-of-a-Nation/626776.

Heinrichs, Ann N/A. The Ku Klux Klan: A Hooded Brotherhood. Chanhassen, MN, The Child’s World, 2003.

History.com Staff. “Ku Klux Klan.” History.com, A+E Networks, 2009, www.history.com/topics/ku-klux-klan. Accessed 9 Feb. 2018.

“Home Culture.” Essence, www.essence.com/culture/horrific-klx-crimes.

“KKK.” Student Resources. EBSCO.

metro.co.uk. metro.co.uk/2018/02/0/page/185/.

Osborne, Samuel N/A. “Former KKK leader praises Donald Trump.” independent,

Independent.co.uk, 2018, www.independent.co.uk/news/world/americas/us-politics/david-duke-donald-trump-state-of-the-union-2018-klx-whte-supremacist-americans-dreamers-a8186606.

Point's of View. EBSCO.

“The remmurgence of the KKK.” Khan academy, www.khanacademy.org/humanities/ap-us-history/period-7/apush-1920s-america/a/the-remergence-of-the-klxk.

Salem Press Encyclopedia. “Ku Klux Klan.” Student resources [Salem], 2014. EBSCO, web.b.ebscohost.com/src_ic/detail/detail?vid=2&sid=23a671f8-6a42-4665-add6-515058656f6e%40sessionmgr103&bdata=#AN=89402990&db=t6o.

Anti-KKK image: “ANTI KKK. NO KKK. END THE KKK.” (ngwoosh)

Group KKK image: “When Chicago welcomed the KKK” (Chicago Tribune)

Burning cross image: “Ku Klux Klan” (AP images)

Naacp child against the KKK image: “Ku Klux Klan Willing To Work With Blacks To Fight Illegal Immigration?” (Africanglobe.net)

Protester fight image: “Counter-protesters charged with attacking KKK members during bloody Anaheim rally.” (Los Angeles Times)

Map 1 image: “Highest KKK membership” (Targetmap)

Map 2 image: “Digital map of KKK” (VCU)

Map 3 image: “Which U.S. states have KKK chapters?” (indy100)