October 26 & 27 2002

Farina Campground - South Australia

This traditional motorcycle camping rally will be held on October 26 & 27 at Farina Campground - approximately 25 km north of Lyndhurst.

Farina, which means flour in Latin, was surveyed in 1878 as a wheat producing granary town. By 1882 the Central Australian Railway had reached Farina but poor rainfalls in the area meant no wheat was ever railed south. At its peak Farina had a general store, a brewery, a saddlery, an underground bakery, two hotels and a population of 600. When the railway reached Marree two years later and with Farina not being able to achieve agricultural success, the town gradually began to decline. The closure of the last store in 1968 marked the end of a 90 year life for Farina. The ruins of the old post office, one of the hotels and several other buildings can still be seen today.

The rally entry fee is $12 and entitles you to a rally badge and tent site for one night. Campground facilities include toilets and showers. Fuel, drink and food supplies are available from the near by towns of Lyndhurst and Leigh Creek.

Awards will be handed out on the Saturday night. Loud music will not be tolerated.

The most direct route to the rally is via Highway 83 to Lyndhurst followed by 25 km of unsealed road to Farina Campground. (See Rally Map.)
