NovaKnowledge also organizes events throughout the year, where members focus on innovation and knowledge economy issues such as education and access to capital. An annual luncheon series brings leading speakers to Nova Scotia and is a major fundraiser for the organization.

MIKE Debates are annual moderated discussions of knowledge economy issues. Organizations throughout the province also can evaluate their strengths and weaknesses in the innovation process by using the Innovation Scorecard, which was developed as part of the 2000 Report Card.

3. "Immigration is critical to growing our economy," noted Joe Spampinato, council chair of NovaKnowledge. "Having the province take such positive steps towards a strategy for increasing immigration reinforces NovaKnowledge's commitment to advancing its call to action strategy for increasing and retaining the number of immigrants coming to Nova Scotia.". 5. Hansard May 21, 1999

HON. MANNING MACDONALD: Mr. Speaker, I stand in the House today to congratulate NovaKnowledge on the release of its second annual Knowledge Economy Report Card. The results of the report are very encouraging for all Nova Scotians. The report card was researched and written by a professional staff under the direction of a steering committee drawn from private and public sector managers and it builds on the first report issued last year.

NovaKnowledge's work on these issues gives Nova Scotians, government, education, business and the community alike, a valuable tool upon which to continue building our economy. Mr. Speaker, NovaKnowledge has outlined several key issues for which both the private and public sector have lacked clear information. These findings not only serve as a guide but they are a good first step in helping to correct many misconceptions about our economy.

Mr. Speaker, Nova Scotia's economy is growing and Nova Scotians need to know this. NovaKnowledge has conducted surveys which indicate that the public continues to believe that our economy is heavily reliant on federal support. This is simply not the case. In fact, Nova Scotia's dependence on federal spending is lower than it has ever been.

6. Hansard : may 10, 2001

MR. SAMSON: . . . is absolutely unbelievable. NovaKnowledge has already received significant sums from the government and from the taxpayers of this province. Will the minister guarantee today that no students will suffer through loss of funding because of the money that this government is giving to a private company?
