

Dear Commissioner of Human Rights for the province of Nova Scotia Ms. Francis please who do you think you are fooling, voting is a joke not a birthright. When it comes to countries around the world that have committed human rights abuses Canada has little room to speak out against any of them , because Canada has been violating human rights since 1917 , under what is call the Workers Compensation Legislation. The abuse is allowed (if not tacitly encouraged) to prevail and injured workers continue to lose their homes and have their families split apart or, are forced to pay the ultimate price by committing suicide and ending lives that have had their future taken away by a ruthless and uncaring system. Governing political parties here in Canada are mainly controlled by business and of course the Workers Compensation Legislation protect businesses from being taken to court.

To go one step further, it has come to the attention of many who served in the Canadian army and trained at Base Gagetown New Brunswick, they were use in a test during 1966 and 1967, these test involved the use of chemicals called Agent Orange and Agent Purple , which were used in Vietnam. I joined the Canadian Army in 1965 and took all of my basic training in Camp Gagetown; I went through with squad 172 and was posted to the Royal Canadian Dragoons on Base Gagetown, after I graduated. During my time on the base, which went well into 1968, we were either on the tank range or in the field doing training and as reported on the media we were under the mist of the spraying of Agent Orange and Agent Purple.

During our field training the Tank Regiment Royal Canadian Dragoons, Blackwatch infantry battalion and many others were all walking through, breathing these vile dangerous chemicals on be known to us. To think that my "government" could or would endanger the live of its citizens whom were doing nothing more than training to serve our country. Surely the people of Canada have the right to know what a governing political party is doing with its country and its citizens. Over the past six years I have become very sceptical about what has been going on here in Canada with "government" over the many years and I have developed a bitter taste to just who "government" is really meant for. I am convinced that political parties are nothing more than a vehicle to feed and protect the wealthy, while using the peoples "government" to achieve the personal goals for the few in the party.

The rest of us are expendable in the eyes of those who govern on behalf of the party. "Government" serves the same purpose as a corporation does, both protect the abusers of the public trust thus giving the governing party a back door to exit, when things such as the blood scandal and now as we learn the misuse of military personal.

Many years later we learn thanks to the media (CBC) that we were used as human laboratory rats by the governing party of the day, which just happened to be the Liberal Party. I heard on an American radio station that at the time the military and civilian population at and around Base Gagetown New Brunswick was being poisoned, the American Government had banned Agent Purple.

I guess someone who was a good party loyalist here in Canada at the time was in need of money, so the governing party chose money over life. This is why the party system sickens me; these people do not really care who they walk on or destroy as long as the good old boys in the party prosper and to hell with anyone else.

(Minister of Defence at the time 1963 to 68) was Liberal Party Cabinet Minister Paul Hellyer

So just what is a "government" and whom really does "government" work for?

The time has come for Canadians to revolt against all political parties and what they stand for, the best way to bring about change is to turn away from the party system as it has been well documented these are nothing more than private clubs that cater to the elite. Think about it, who gets the tax breaks, who get the grants, who get legislative protection, who get governments attention when they need tax dollars for their business and who can takes our public infrastructure tax dollars and spreads them around to their political friends, then get away with it? Answer: Political parties! It is time to bring creditability and accountability to government, and the first best step is not to support a candidate of any party what so ever. For years I have been hearing that all elected members are not bad and that we do elect good ones, well if they are so good then why haven't they brought accountability to government?

Could it be that these so-called good elected have been castrated by the party structure, rendered voiceless and if they do speak up, they are banished to the back of the room or booted out of the party. My point is, how many "government" bureaucrats and cabinet ministers in Mike Pearson's liberal governing party knew that these two poisons, agent orange and agent purple were being ingested by Canadian soldiers while they were on training in the fields and wood in Camp Gagetown? I never signed any agreement with the Canadian Government/Military that said they had the right to use my body as a laboratory experiment. If German Second World War veterans are being rounded up and are being deported for their crimes against humanity during the Second World War, so should those who were serving in the "Liberal Party "government" of the day.

This was a vile act against those citizens living on or working at Camp Gagetown during the spraying of these chemicals, while knowing full well that these were not going to be good for the health of those citizens whose bodies were going to be contaminated. I felt like my country sentenced me to death; but then again it was not my country that carried out this act, but a political party. To think that a goddam political party can come to power, abuse its citizens and the only way we can hold them accountable is vote against the party in the next election, surely we can do better than that? Maybe we should be looking at suing them, but then again most if not all judges are appointed to the courts by these vile private clubs. One could say the fox has hired one of its own to guard the chicken house; and we all know they are not going to eat their own, are they?

So Paul Hellyer, just what were you thinking when you gave the okay to drop those chemicals on your Canadian citizens? Or, more to the point, what did you know about the dangers involved--and please do not try to tell me you didn't know or understand either. So, when it comes to human rights abuses, I want people to understand that no matter which political party is in the position of governing, these abuses all fall at the feet of the people we elected in the past and the present. The way these political parties governing abuse and the way they get away with human rights abuse here in Canada surely is not to be considered the action of a true democratic political system is it?

The Nerve of MAYANN FRANCIS, Nova Scotia Human Rights Commissioner to tell me that democracy is voting and it is our birthright. I have had my dealing with Mayann Francis Commission Of Human Rights over the abusive Nova Scotia Workers Compensation Legislation and as far as I am concerned, her ears are plugged and her mind was blank, now she is going to be appointed Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, how sweet.

No Human Rights Commissioner Francis, you are wrong about voting being a birthright, it is a tool used to manipulate the citizens, so a small group of want to be socialites can form a gang, so they can legalize their stealing from the people. It is my opinion the Office of the Human Rights Commission is nothing more than a tool to protect whom they pick to protect and more often than not that is the abusive political bureaucratic system.
