Work Experience

Kim enlisted in the Air Force September 20, 1995. She started her career as a still photographer, then cross-utilized trained into both video and graphics. She started United States Air Forces Europe's first web shop, creating graphics and writing code for three websites. She also stood up a three-man multimedia team, creating products like interactive training modules. In addition, she managed a 30-man office of graphic designers, photojournalists and video broadcasters.

She served as ghost and speech writer for CEOs and senior executives. In addition, Kim assisted subordinate offices with tackling tough strategic communication issues and crises by developing communication plans and strategies.
